Destroyed by Fire.

On last Sunday night the store house and all the contents, owned by Taylor Hurst and Mrs. W. A. Hampton and located on Davis Creek, near Simpson, was destroyed by fire between 11 and 12 o'clock. When the fire was discovered it was beyond control. Nothing was saved. Loss about $2,000; partially covered by insurance. It is not known how the fire originated, but the parties who first saw it said it looked as if it caught fire from the inside. There had been no fire in it this season.

CORRESPONDENCE. BOONEVILLE.

Pneumonia fever has been very severe in this county this fall. Since our last writing old Uncle Jonathan Isom, of Buck Creek, 72 years old, a soldier and pensioner of the late war, has died, and Sam Smith, another soldier and pensioner, 68 years old, of Cow Creek, has also died, and many other cases that have not proved fatal. But nearly all the old people who have taken it have died.

Robert W. Rose, of Eversole, this county, says that he has about all of Beattyville's court day sales that he desires. He says the Beattyville Commercial Club had frequently asked him, and also sent him a special invitation by mail, to join their great stock sale last Monday. So he says he mustered up a bunch of cattle and drove them down, and while driving the same through Beattyville the town marshal arrested him and its officers lay tribute on him to the extent of $8, which he was forced to pay before he could proceed to the sale yard. He says he has always been a strict, law-abiding man and he believes no other corporation would lay tribute on him in a similar manner.

We are sorry to have to chronicle the death of old Aunt Barsha Taylor, 73 years old, that occurred at her home near here on Saturday morning last. She was the wife of Rev. M. C. Taylor, who is now 82 years old. They came to this county from Granger county, Tennessee, before the Civil war and here lived and reared a large family, respectable children, most of whom still live in this county. They both took pneumonia fever a few days ago, but the old lady's case seemed to be beyond medical aid and she soon passed away. The old gentleman has somewhat improved and there is some hope for his recovery. She was buried Sunday on a spot near their home on Bear Run Creek, where Bro. Taylor has long since selected for their last resting place, amid a host of sorrowing friends and relatives. The family and friends have our deepest sympathies.
